MEMORANDUM FOR: James H. Taylor
Executive Director, Central Intelligence Agency

SUBJECT: Appreciation for Support on the FSCS Phase III Study

1. The Future SIGINT Capabilities Study Phase III has been accepted by the DDCI for publication and use by the Community in planning future SIGINT capabilities. It is critical that we project our best Intelligence Community thinking into the future to assure that our intelligence collection capabilities keep pace with our changing intelligence needs and technologic change. This recently completed study makes a major contribution to that need and does so as a result of a full Community effort.

2. [redacted] CIA/CRES made a significant contribution to the success of this study. His diligence and perseverance as the leader of the National Support Team of the FSCS Utility Assessment team, and in developing and reviewing the FSCS intelligence tasks were essential. I wish to recognize the professional expertise and the spirit of teamwork that were essential to the success of the study. [redacted] should be commended for a job well done.
